

Financial Aid for Enrollment in Evening Junior High School

(April 2026 to March 2027)

The City of Nagoya offers support for enrollment in Nagoyaka Junior High School by providing financial aid to cover school expenses, such as for school meals and supplies. Please read this notification and apply for the aid if necessary.

1. Persons Eligible for the Financial Aid

(1) Eligibility categories (For 2), eligibility is granted only if all the household members fall under the category.)

- 1) Persons who receive public assistance
- 2) Persons for whom public assistance is either suspended or discontinued (This does not apply if public assistance is discontinued due to a change of household situation, such as re-marriage.)
- 3) Persons who receive child rearing allowance (excluding persons who receive child allowance, single parent household allowance, or other similar allowances)
- 4) Persons with financial difficulties (whose income is below the income standard set for the application during the period from April to August 2025)

No. of household members	1-person household	2-person household	3-person household	4-person household	5-person household	6-person household	7-person household or more
Total net income of household	¥2,153,000	¥3,218,000	¥3,456,000	¥4,178,000	¥4,850,000	¥5,376,000	Total increases by ¥455,000 per additional person.
Estimated annual income	¥3,336,000	¥4,700,000	¥5,000,000	¥5,900,000	¥6,723,000	¥7,308,000	Total increases by ¥507,000 per additional person.

* Up to August 2026, eligibility for the financial aid is granted if the total income earned by each household member from January to December 2024 minus 100,000 yen is below the income standard shown above as “total net income of household.” For the financial aid provided from September 2026, total household income earned from January to December 2025 is considered to determine eligibility. The income standard to be applied from September 2026 will be notified in September 2026.

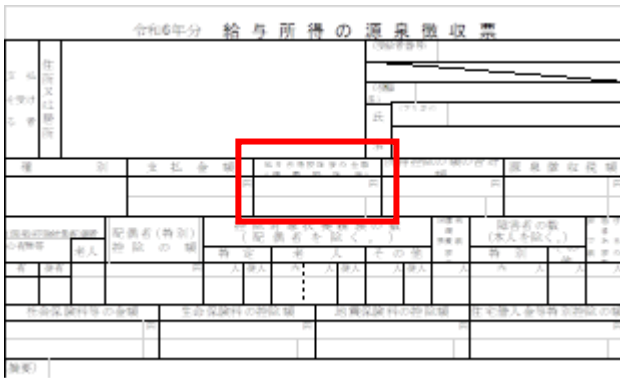

* It should be noted that “total net income,” not annual income, is considered when screening eligibility for financial aid. See the amounts shown in below.

* In view of rising prices, the amount of standard income is set at a higher level than usual for a while.

* The documents shown as references 1 and 2 are used only for confirming your income, and cannot be submitted as supporting documents. For more information, please see “5. Documents To Be Submitted” on p. 3.

(2) Definition of “household”

- * When determining eligibility for the financial aid, a “household” refers to everyone who is living in the same house, even if a family member is registered at a separate residence from other family members on the Certificate of Residence. Additionally, a family member who does not live with other family members but supports the living of the household, such as a person who works away from home, is also considered a member of the “household.”
- * In cases where the income of a household’s primary supporter is suddenly reduced due to an unavoidable circumstance, such as illness or unemployment (layoff, company insolvency), you may still be able to receive aid, even if your net income is above the standard. Please consult with your school. (Retirement, or resignation for personal reasons does not qualify.)

2. Duration of Financial Aid

If you are granted eligibility for the financial aid for the period from April to July 2026, you will receive the financial aid until August 2026. If you apply for the financial aid for the period from April to July 2026, you will, whether granted eligibility or not, be automatically considered for eligibility for the aid starting from September 2026 under the new criteria. In this case, you do not have to submit application documents anew. If additional documents are necessary for the screening in September, you will be notified individually. If you are granted eligibility for financial aid after September 2026, you will receive the financial aid until March 2027. If you wish to continue to receive the financial aid after April 2027, you are required to submit an application following the notification issued in April.

3. Notes

- 1) The applicant (recipient) for the financial aid is the student. (If the student is a minor, the guardian will be the applicant.)
- 2) Any and all personal information related to your financial aid will be kept confidential.
- 3) If submitted documents are found to have been intentionally altered or to contain errors, your application will be considered invalid and eligibility may be revoked. If concerns regarding the contents of your application arise, your household situation and income may be subject to review under official authority.
- 4) Please notify the school immediately if there is a change in your household (such as re-marriage, change of address, moved in with grandparents) If you re-marry or the number of members of your household increases, your financial aid will be temporarily suspended. If you wish to continue to receive financial aid, please re-apply with updated information about your household.
- 5) Households affected by earthquakes, heavy rainfall, and other natural disasters are advised to consult with their school about the application process.

4. Other Information (Details and Payment Schedule)

- * If you are granted eligibility, please keep this document so you can refer to it and check the amount of financial aid paid to you.
- * To receive the financial aid for the second trimester (starting in September), you should be granted eligibility for the aid after September.
